

Punjabi culture

~~Punjab Culture is the Culture of the Punjab in the Indian Subcontinent. This is the only Punjabi culture and is primarily~~ Ancient Punjabi Culture

Ancient Punjabis' were renowned for their architectural excellence and gave their civilization a highly distinct look with baked-brick urban architecture. The written alphabet of the Ancient Punjabis is yet to be cracked and deciphered; it remains one of the few ancient cultures whose literature remains unread and unknown.

Ancient Punjabis' enjoyed and were fascinated with games, this is supported by the very large number of games artefacts, such as dice, excavated by archaeologists

Middle Age Punjabi Culture

Middle Age Punjabi Culture, during the period of foreign invasions, saw the already very high number of layers and complexity of the Punjabi Culture increase to another level.  [citation needed ]

During this time contributions from

Greek

,

Persian

,

Mongol

and Afghan

influences were incorporated into the enormous complexity and sophistication of the Punjabi Culture. During this period saw the birth and rise of a new world-religion in Punjab, Sikhism

, this had a dramatic effect on the culture and gave it an additional dimension. This further increased the martial and military

dimensions of the Punjabi culture and of the Punjabi People.

Modern Punjabi Culture

Due to the large number of Punjabi People distributed throughout the world, Pakistan and India

, many people are increasingly experiencing the culture and becoming influenced by it.

Traditional Punjabi culture is being strengthened and expanded in the Western world

(e.g.

U.S.

,

UK

,

EU

,

Canada

etc.), the scope is huge, ranging from Punjabi Philosophy, poetry, spirituality, education, artistry, music, cuisine, architecture etc